In the event that We do not cancel Your bet, We reserve the right to apply a payout limit on the bet that does not exceed the pool declared by VIC TAB. Jockey Challenge

- Betting on the Jockey Challenge is Win Only.
- The "Any other individual jockey" option shall be defined as the points earned by any one individual jockey riding at that meeting outside of the jockeys already nominated in the list of betting options for that meeting.
- In the case of two or more jockeys finishing the day on the same amount of points the Dead Heat Rule applies. This is regardless of the amount of outright winners ridden by either of these jockeys.
- If any individual jockey in the market does not complete at least one (1) ride for the meeting, all wagers on the Jockey Challenge for that meeting will be cancelled and monies refunded. For this clause, the term "complete" will be defined as having started in a race, not finishing a race (e.g. if that jockey falls off mid-race it will still be considered that he has completed a race)
- If the meeting is postponed or abandoned at any stage, all wagers on the Jockey Challenge for that meeting will be cancelled and monies refunded regardless of standings at the time.

Australian Rules Football

- Payouts are based on the official declared result, but conditions may apply to specific betting options (e.g. end of normal time, including extra time - an extension of normal time - etc.).
- Where a match is abandoned or postponed, and played within seven days of the original scheduled date, all wagers stand. Once the seven days have expired, all single wagers are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg.

- When the Draw option is offered, the wager is decided on the result at the end of normal time (i.e. extra time - an extension of normal time - not included). For Margin Betting the Draw option is always offered. When the Draw option is not offered, The Dead Heat Rule applies.
- For match winners, player disposals, match ups, and most goals markets, all players must be in the starting line up for wagers to stand unless otherwise specified. The statistics used by the AFL website (www.afl.com.au) will be the statistics used for payout purposes.
- For first goal scorer markets, players listed in the sportsbetting.com.au market but are not in starting line up are subject to a refund. The statistics used by the AFL website (www.afl.com.au) will be the statistics used for payout purposes.
- For leading Victorian or Interstate side:
 - When determining the leading Victorian or Interstate side for the season, the official AFL ladder standings will be used.
 - Using the round 22 ladder ranking, clubs eliminated in week one of the finals will be ranked seventh and eighth.
 - Those eliminated in week two of the finals will be ranked fifth and sixth.
 - The losers of the preliminary finals will finish third and fourth.
 - The AFL ranking system will determine which of the two teams eliminated on the same weekend will be ranked higher.
 - If two teams are knocked out on the same weekend, the AFL rankings will determine the winner.

Baseball

- Games are official after five innings of play. If the home team is leading, the game is official after four and half innings of play. If a game goes past five innings (including any extra innings) and is subsequently called off, suspended or postponed beyond either teams next scheduled game, the winner is determined by the score after the last full innings of play (except in the case when the home team score to tie, or take the lead in the bottom half of the innings in which the game is called off - the runs do count).
- For run line and margin betting, the game is official after 9 innings if the visitor team is winning and after 8.5 innings if the home team is winning. For matches part of a double header and reduced to 7 innings, bets will be official after 6.5 innings if the home team is winning.
- For run totals the game is official after 9 innings (8.5 innings if home team is winning) with the exception that at any time the run total is exceeded the wager is official. For matches part of a double header and reduced to 7 innings, bets will be official after 6.5 innings if the home team is winning.
- Should a game not start on the day of the officially listed start time, as stated by the relevant governing body, due to a rain delay or other similar events, all bets will be void.

Basketball

- Payouts will be based on the official final score, extra time (an extension of normal time) included, unless otherwise specified.
- Games are official after 43 minutes of play (NBA), 35 minutes of play (NCAA and NBL) and at the end of normal time (all other competitions).
- In handicap and totals betting, where the line or total is a flat number, if the score lands on the line or total, all wagers are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers (parlays) will be recalculated excluding that leg.

- If a game is abandoned, postponed to another date, or fails to meet the above criteria, single wagers are void and refunded. Multiple wagers (parlays) will be recalculated excluding that leg.

Boxing

- Where a match is abandoned or postponed, but fought within 14 days of the original scheduled date, all wagers stand. Once the 14 days have expired, all single wagers are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg.
- All wagers on either boxer to win will be decided by the judges decision, which includes points, technical knockout (TKO), knockout (KO) or disqualification.
- If a price is offered for the draw, in the event of a draw all wagers on either boxer to win will be losers. If there is a "technical draw" determined by the referee due to an accidental cut etc then the bout is deemed a "no contest" and all wagers are to be refunded.
- In round-by-round betting, if a boxer fails to answer the bell, the fight will be deemed to have ended in the previous round.
- For all wagers on a boxer to win on points, the full scheduled number of rounds must take place for the wagers to be deemed winners.
- If the scheduled number of rounds is changed all "pick the round" wagers are void and wagers refunded.
- The official stopping of a round before the sounding of the bell does not constitute a full round. A full round is only considered for wagering purposes to have been completed when the bell sounds signifying the end of the round.

Cricket

- Limited overs (including one-day internationals):
 - In one-day matches, shortened by weather, the outcome will be that determined by the competition rules. If the match is declared a 'no-result' all single wagers are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg. However, all decided bets, such as high bat, individual match ups and next man out, will stand.
 - For batting or bowling match-ups, both batsmen must reach the crease or both bowlers must bowl one ball for wagers to stand. Otherwise all wagers are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg.
 - If a match is transferred to a reserve day, all wagers accepted prior to the toss of the original game will carry over. All wagers accepted after that time are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg.
 - For betting on the highest opening partnership, wagers will be paid on the team which has amassed the most runs when the first wicket falls, i.e. if one of the opening batsman retires (hurt or otherwise), the partnership is deemed to continue with the next batsman until the first wicket falls.
 - If the scheduled overs (match) ends in a tie and the official competition rules do not determine a winner, dead heat rules will apply to bets on the outright result unless the outcome is settled by a bowl off or super over. In the event of a bowl off or super over, the result of this will stand for match betting. If the competition rules determine the winner by a toss of a coin or drawing of lots or higher seeding resulting from a previous round then bets will be void.

- If either team's innings in a limited overs match is reduced by more than 20% of the originally scheduled number then all bets on the following markets will be void: Most Match Sixes, Teams Match Sixes, Match Fours, Team Fours, Match Boundaries.
- Only the XI players listed in the starting XI will count towards settlements of player-related markets (Top Batsman and Top Bowler). For example, if a "Player 12" is subbed on under the X-Factor rule and scores the most runs, the player will not count towards the settlement of the Top Batsmen market, the top batsman from the original XI players listed will be settled as the winner
- Test cricket (including other non-limited overs):
 - In the event of a tie (i.e. where both teams are bowled out twice and have the same score), all wagers to win on either team will be paid at half face value (i.e. half the win plus half the wager amount). All wagers on the draw will be deemed to be losing bets.
 - At least one ball must be bowled for wagers to stand - otherwise all single wagers are void. However, if a match is officially abandoned (e.g. due to dangerous pitch conditions) then all undecided single wagers on the match are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg.
 - For wagers to stand in batting or bowling match-ups, both batsmen must reach the crease or both bowlers must bowl one ball. Otherwise all single wagers are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg.
 - For series betting, all scheduled matches must be played. Otherwise all single wagers are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg - unless a result has already been determined.
 - Betting on Australian domestic cricket is based on the most points awarded in the match.
 - For betting on the highest opening partnership, wagers will be paid on the team who has amassed the most runs when the first wicket falls, i.e. if one of the opening batsman retires (hurt or otherwise), the partnership is deemed to continue with the next batsman until the first wicket falls. For test matches and domestic cricket this wager refers to the first innings only.

Golf

- In golf, a play-off shall count in determining the final result.
- In the case of golf, where a tournament is affected by adverse weather conditions, wagers will be settled on the official result, disregarding the number of rounds played.
- If a tournament is not completed within 14 days of commencing, all wagers on any betting option for the tournament are void except wagers that are decided within the 14-day period.
- If a player is disqualified, only completed rounds prior to the round, where the disqualification occurred, will count.
- Tournament betting, and betting on tournament groups with nine players or more:
 - Bets are placed on an "All-In" basis, (no refunds for non-starters). Playoffs are included in determining the winner and every player beaten in a playoff is deemed to have tied for second.
 - If a tournament is shortened, after it has started, then all wagers stand. Wagers accepted after the end of a day's play are void unless there is further play, which counts towards the result of the tournament (other than a playoff). Or the betting is specifically stated to be on the outcome of a playoff.

- If a tournament is officially abandoned, all wagers on the tournament are void, except options that have already been decided.
- Single betting and betting on tournament groups with eight players or less:
 - Both players (or all players in group) must tee off for wagers to stand. Playoffs are excluded.
 - The winner is the player who plays the most holes (excluding playoffs). If they are equal on holes, the best score wins. Holes played in a round that is subsequently abandoned, or for any reason not counted towards the result of the tournament, do not count. The Dead Heat Rule applies.
- Single round betting (two balls, three balls, groups):
 - Both players (or all players in the three balls or group) must tee off for wagers to stand.
 - Where a tie or draw option is not offered, The Dead Heat Rule applies. Playoffs are excluded unless otherwise stated.
 - The winner is the player who plays the most holes (excluding playoffs). If they are equal on holes, the best score wins. Holes played in a round that is subsequently abandoned, or for any reason not counted towards the result of the tournament, do not count.
- Make the cut betting:
 - For wagers to stand, the named player must play 36 holes (or 54 or 72 holes where the cut is made at that point).
 - A player is deemed to have made the cut if the player is eligible to play in the round after the cut is made (even if the player chooses not to do so). If a player is not eligible to do so (even if the rules for the cut have been changed during the tournament) that player is deemed to have missed the cut.
- Tournament Head to Heads:
 - Both players must tee off for wagers to stand.
 - Where a tie or draw option is not offered, The Dead Heat Rule applies. Playoffs are excluded unless otherwise stated.

- Payouts will be based on the official final score, including extra time (an extension of normal time). Games are official after 55 minutes of play.
- If a game is postponed and rescheduled to occur within 48 hours of the original start time, all wagers stand. If rescheduled for more than 48 hours later, all single wagers are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg.

Ice Hockey

- Head to Head and Totals betting includes overtime and penalty shootout. In the case of a penalty shootout only one (1) goal will be awarded to the winning team.
- When the game total is a 'flat' number (e.g. seven (7)), and if the total score lands on that number, all wagers are void and wagers refunded. Multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg.
- 'Pick the score' betting is based on the score at the end of normal time (i.e. extra time - an extension of normal time - is not included).

- If a game is abandoned prior to 55 minutes being played, or postponed to another date, all single wagers are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg.

Motor Racing

- Podium placing determines the standings for the settlement of bets. Classified/Not Classified is paid based on whether the driver has been 'classified' by the ruling body. (See FIA Rules 166-169). Post-Podium, sportsbetting.com.au does not recognise overturned decisions for betting purposes.
- In match-ups or group betting, those drivers must line up on the official starting grid for wagers to stand. The official starting grid is the grid after the warm up lap.
- For betting on drivers' and constructors' championships, the result is declared once the podium positions for the final listed event are known. Post-podium, sportsbetting.com.au does not recognise overturned decisions for betting purposes.
- For head-to-head betting, both drivers must line up on the official starting grid for wagers to stand. Payouts are based on the driver that completes the most laps of the race. If both drivers retire on the same lap, match up will be deemed a tie.

- Once the seven (7) days have expired all single wagers are void and wagers refunded. Affected multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg.
- If the result of a match after extra time is a Draw, then the Dead Heat Rule applies. In handicap/line and totals betting, where the number is a flat number (e.g. 6.0), and the result lands on that flat number, then all wagers affected by that flat line will be void and wagers refunded. Affected multiples will be recalculated excluding that leg.
- For First and Last Scoring Plays and First Points markets, if the match remains scoreless after normal and any extra time, then single wagers will be void and monies refunded. Multiple wagers will be recalculated excluding that leg.
- For Most Tries wagers in groups of three or more players, if no player from the group scores a try, single wagers are void and monies refunded. Multiple wagers are recalculated excluding that leg. If any of the players do score any tries and there is a Dead Heat, then the Dead Heat Rule applies.

All statistics and prices showing on HOT Bet ads are updated overnight.
- When placing a HOT Bet you may have multiple bet types to choose from including Fixed Odds or a tote derivative product. The selected product (e.g. fixed odds) will be used to calculate your return (like any other bet). For example, you may choose fixed odds and your bet be placed at $10. The runner may pay $11.50 at best tote, but your bet will be paid at $10 (subject to normal fixed odds deductions).
- The price you get may differ from what is shown on a HOT Bet results page as these are calculated from best tote, which may differ from a product visible to you.
- Note that products offered to you for the purposes of placing a HOT Bet will be the same as the products available to you for normal betting activity.

- When betting on a Hot Bet you agree to take the bet without visibility of the runner or odds. This means you are trusting the judgement of the tipster based on their profile and/or performance. Once you have submitted a bet through Hot Bet, you will be presented with confirmation including the runner and the odds you have bet (for fixed odds selections). All bets are final. You are unable to cancel a bet because you did not like the selection. However, you may set a rule in your bet slip to choose an alternative selection if your stated rule is not satisfied.
